Type of Investment products and risk associated with them:

Stocks: Stocks or equity are shares that are issued by companies and are bought by the general public. This offers an avenue to companies to raise funds. Stocks entitle a customer ownership of a company. Shares, stocks and equity all imply the same thing. Shares are one of the most popular investment avenues in the world. This is because the returns offered by stocks is generally higher than any other financial instrument. However, to balance out the high return associated with stocks, the risk associated with the products is also quite high. Any business may issue different types of shares based on the financial urgency and need. In exchange for the money, share holders are issued Stock certificates. Stocks are mostly divided into two basic types, common stocks and preferred stocks.

Fixed Deposits - Suitable for Investors Low Risk Appetite-

As the name itself indicates, fixed deposits are financial instruments that are one of the oldest and safest ways to save money. These are not necessarily active investment tools, but are rather a rather a passive way to save and earn returns. A fixed amount of money is kept aside with a financial institution for a fixed number of days or months or years. In turn, interest is earned on this money. The rate of interest differs with the deposit tenure and also with the banking entity. Similar to fixed deposit is the concept of recurring deposit. However, the only point of difference in the two investment tools is that while a lump-sum amount needs to be fixed in case of fixed deposit, a smaller amount needs to be deposited at regular intervals in case of a recurring deposit. Hence, customers who do not have a large chunk of money to fix in a single go can opt for a recurring deposit where in money is usually deposited monthly for a specific deposit tenure. The rate of interest earned on recurring deposit is similar and comparable to that earned on fixed deposit.

Bonds-Suitable for Investors Low Risk Appetite-

A Bond can be understood as an IOU which is issued by an issuer (borrower) and to a lender. Generally, bonds are instruments used by public and private sector enterprises to raise huge sums of money which any bank is incapable of lending. These bonds are then issued in the public market by the borrowing entity and are bought by lenders for specific amounts of money. Thousands of lenders then come together to lend the required amount and the borrowing organization is able to raise capital for its operational or growth purposes. However, since money is being lent to the issuer of bonds, there is also an interest component involved that is paid back to the investor in turn for his/her money. This interest is paid at a pre determined rate and for a specific period of time. Bonds fall under the category of fixed income securities since the interest on these can be exactly calculated for the time for which the bond is held. Bonds fall under the debt category and are therefore, comparatively safer financial instruments to invest in. However, with all financial tools risk is inversely proportional to returns and as such the low-risk attribute of this tool makes it a low return instrument as well.

Sukanya Samriddhi Scheme-

Sukanya Samriddhi Yojana is a special scheme which has been launched by the central government to facilitate the financial well being of girl child in the country. This scheme can be availed by parents or legal guardian of a girl child and an amount as low as Rs.1000 per annum can be deposited under the scheme. The account matures only after the girl child reaches the age of 21. Premature withdrawal is allowed only after the girl reaches the age of 18 years and has financial need pertaining to wedding or education.

National Pension Scheme-

National pension Scheme is one of the most popular schemes for ensuring a regular pension amount to individuals working in both the private and the public sector. NPS is offered to individuals either as part of their corporate perks or is availed by individuals on their own. The amount set aside towards NPS is eligible for tax rebate under section 80C of the Income Tax Act. The scheme offers withdrawal of deposited amount only once the account holder reaches the age of 60 years. The corpus withdrawn on maturity is absolutely tax-free.

Other type of risk associated with Trading

Market Risk:

An investor may experience losses due to factors affecting the overall performance of financial markets. Stock market bubbles and crashes are good examples of heightened market risk. You can't eliminate market risk, also called systematic risk, through diversification. You can, however, hedge against market risk.

space

Inflation risk:

Inflation risk, also called purchasing power risk, is the chance that the cash flowing from an investment today won't be worth as much in the future. Changes in purchasing power due to inflation may cause inflation risk.

Liquidity risk:

Liquidity risk arises when an investment can't be bought or sold quickly enough to prevent or minimize loss. You can minimize this risk to a good extent by diversifying.
